Physical Requirements:

AGE: Minimum age required to train is 18. Maximum age is 70. However, if you are 46 or older, we may require your health professional to approve your participation in our training program.

ABILITY TO RUN: You must be able to run at least (30) yards in (6) seconds or less. If this is not possible, train for wheeled powered paragliding.

ABILITY TO JUMP & LAND SAFELY: You must be able to jump off a 3' ladder and land safely on the ground.

WEIGHT: Student pilot weight minimum is 115 lb. Maximum weight is 200 lb. (190 lb. for tandem flights). If you are overweight for your height and build by more than 20%, this sport is not for you. Many of those wishing to train have lost the weight necessary. Being overweight greatly increases your risk of injury or death while flying a paraglider. If you are unusually tall, we may make an exception to the upper weight limit.

VISION: Your long-distance vision must be good. You must be able to see clearly where you are going while flying. If you need glasses, be sure to have sports-type eyewear, such as "Rec-Specs", that will not accidentally fall off while flying.

LEFT-RIGHT DETERMINATION: If you have difficulty determining which is your right or left, have someone drill you and see whether you can train yourself to instantly recognize which side is which. Getting your right or left hand confused can be EXTREMELY dangerous while paragliding. If you have difficulty determining which is your right or left when hearing a command, have someone drill you and see whether you can train yourself to instantly recognize which side is which.

Mental Requirements: Mental stability while paragliding is of critical importance. A pilot must not ever lose self-control (i.e. panic and/or become disoriented). Maintaining mental stability is essential for engaging in any activity like paragliding where panic or anything similar can lead to injury or death. Paragliding is not the place to see how you do mentally. You will be alone in the air and your instructor will not be able to take over your aircraft.

Limited Time to Complete Training: If I fail to complete my training within sixteen (8) weeks from the date above, I acknowledge that I am no longer enrolled in training at Southwest Airsports.
